Cartridge Club — compliance pack for PayAlly

ALDERROCK LTD · Company No. 17381132 · Dept 6984, 196 High Road, Wood Green, London, N22 8HH, United Kingdom · https://www.cartridge-club.com/ · Billing contact: info@cartridge-club.com · 13 October 2026

This document responds to the five points raised by PayAlly. Sections 1–4 describe the changes made to the website and where each wording now appears. Section 5 contains the requested purchase example: the customer journey, the order in the back office, and the Order Confirmation email and invoice the customer receives after payment.

1. Balance — top-up and spend only, no withdrawals

All references to withdrawing, cashing out or transferring Balance have been removed from the website. Balance can only be topped up and used to pay for digital products on the platform; there is no withdrawal, payout or transfer function anywhere in the product or in the policies.

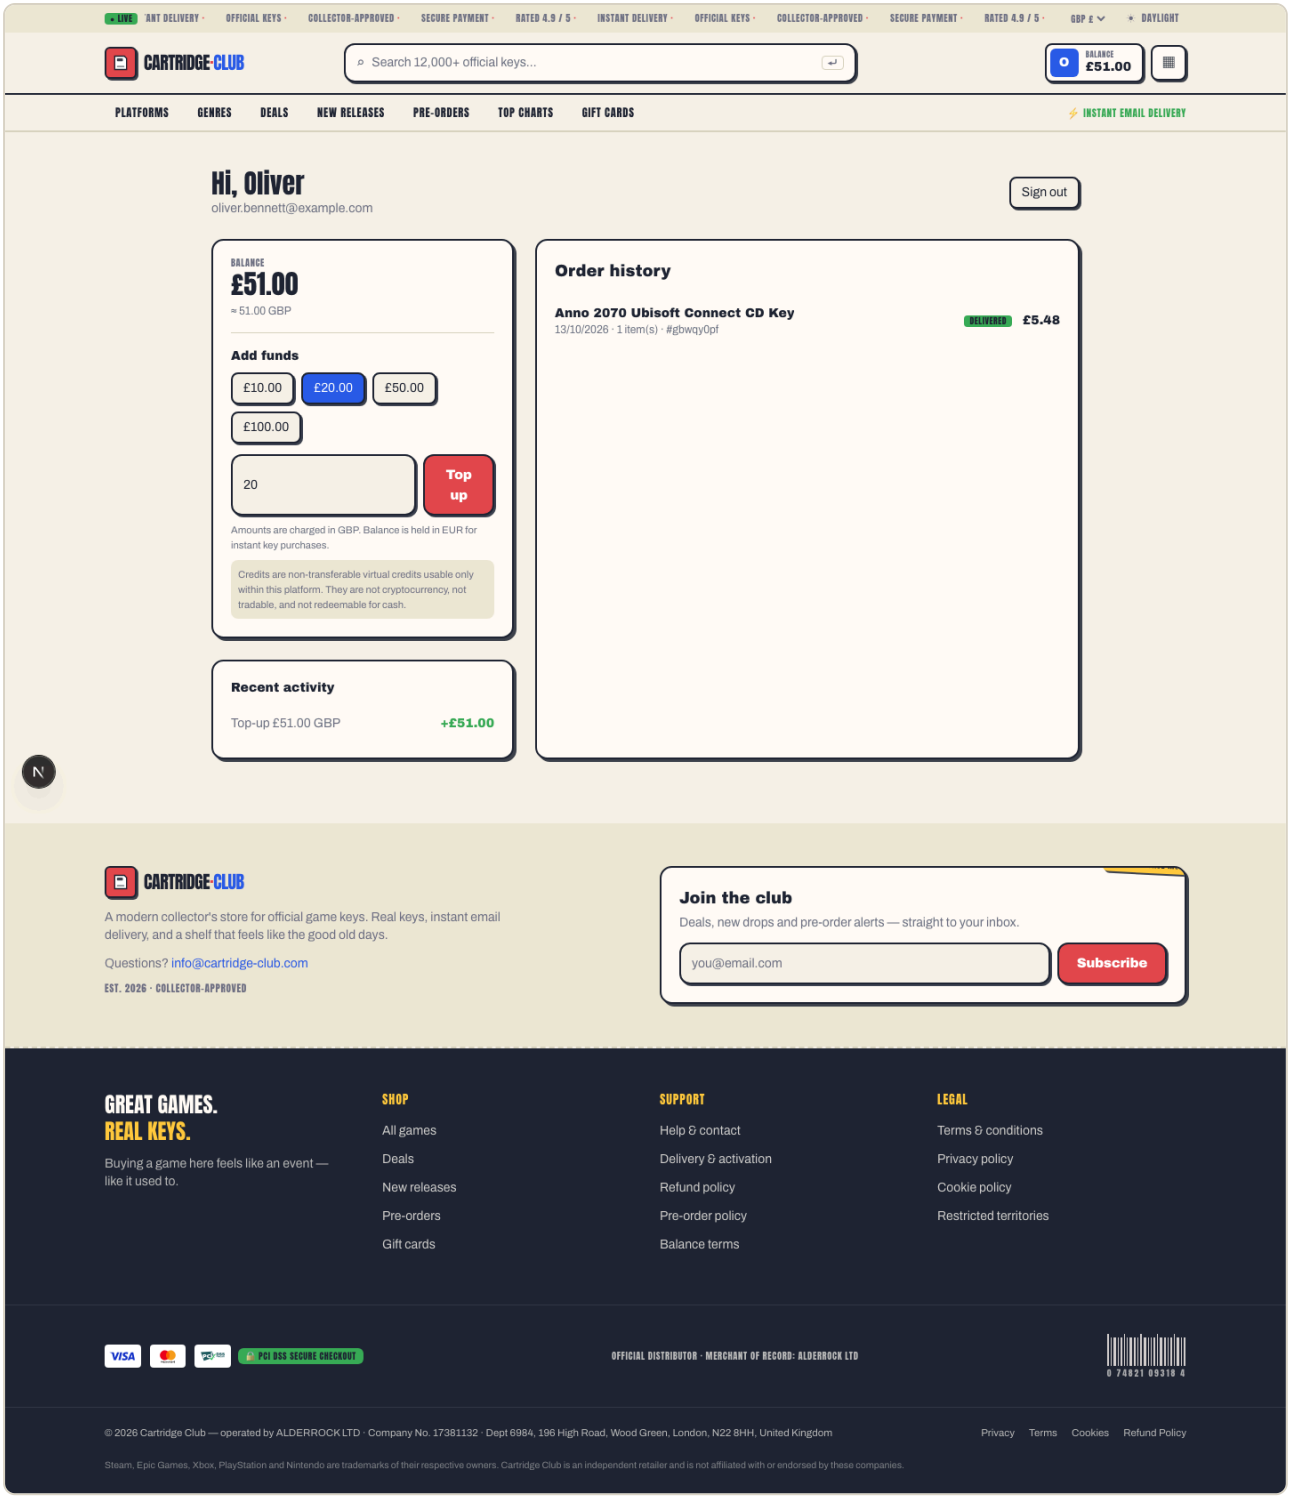

Page	Change
/balance-terms	Rewritten. The former “Withdrawal of available Balance” section is replaced by “No cash-out, no transfer”. Eligibility, currency conversion, refunds, payment reversals, security, account closure and records no longer reference withdrawals. Account closure states that unused credits are not paid out in cash.
/terms	The Balance clause no longer offers withdrawal through customer support; it now carries the non-transferable-credits wording. The suspension clause and the account-verification clause no longer reference withdrawals. The Payment section states the card statement descriptor.
/privacy	“Balance and withdrawals” renamed to “Balance”, and the policy states that no payout instructions or third-party beneficiary data are processed, because credits cannot be withdrawn or transferred.
/refund-policy	The credits section states that credits cannot be withdrawn, cashed out, paid to a bank account or transferred. Where mandatory law or a confirmed technical / unauthorised-payment error requires a reimbursement, it goes to the original payment method only — never as cash or to a third party.
/pre-orders, /restricted-territories	Remaining withdrawal references replaced: refunded amounts return to Balance and stay usable for purchases.

The required disclosure is shown before payment on the Balance top-up screen, on the checkout, and on the Balance card in the customer account:

> Credits are non-transferable virtual credits usable only within this platform. They are not cryptocurrency, not tradable, and not redeemable for cash.

Balance top-up — the disclosure and the card statement descriptor are shown above the payment button.

Customer account — the same disclosure appears under the Balance card. No withdrawal option exists.

2. Privacy Policy — data retention

The Privacy Policy now sets a defined maximum retention period for every category of data, with automated monthly deletion, and states the backup retention explicitly. Periods follow UK and EU requirements.

Data category	Retention

Account and profile data	24 months after account closure or last interaction
Orders, invoices, Balance transactions, payment records	6 years from the end of the financial year (Companies Act 2006 s.388, HMRC record-keeping); up to 10 years where an EU member state's VAT rules require it. Delivered keys are masked after 12 months
Customer support and complaint correspondence	24 months after the ticket closes, or until a related dispute ends
Fraud, chargeback and dispute evidence	6 years (limitation period and card-scheme dispute windows)
Security, access and technical logs	12 months; 30 days for routine logs without a security event
Password reset / email verification tokens	1 hour / 24 hours, deleted on use or expiry
Marketing and consent records	Until opt-out or 24 months without interaction; hashed suppression record kept while marketing operates; cookie consent 12 months
Analytics and cookie data	13 months
Backups and disaster recovery copies	Encrypted, rolling 35-day cycle, automatically overwritten. Data deleted from live systems — including after an erasure request — disappears from backups within 35 days; during that window backups are restored only for disaster recovery

The policy also covers legal holds: where an erasure request or an expiring retention period conflicts with a statutory obligation, an unresolved dispute, a live fraud investigation or a limitation period, processing is restricted instead of deleted, the data is deleted once the obligation ends, and the customer is told that this applies.

3. Checkout

Both required elements appear on the payment screen, above the Pay button.

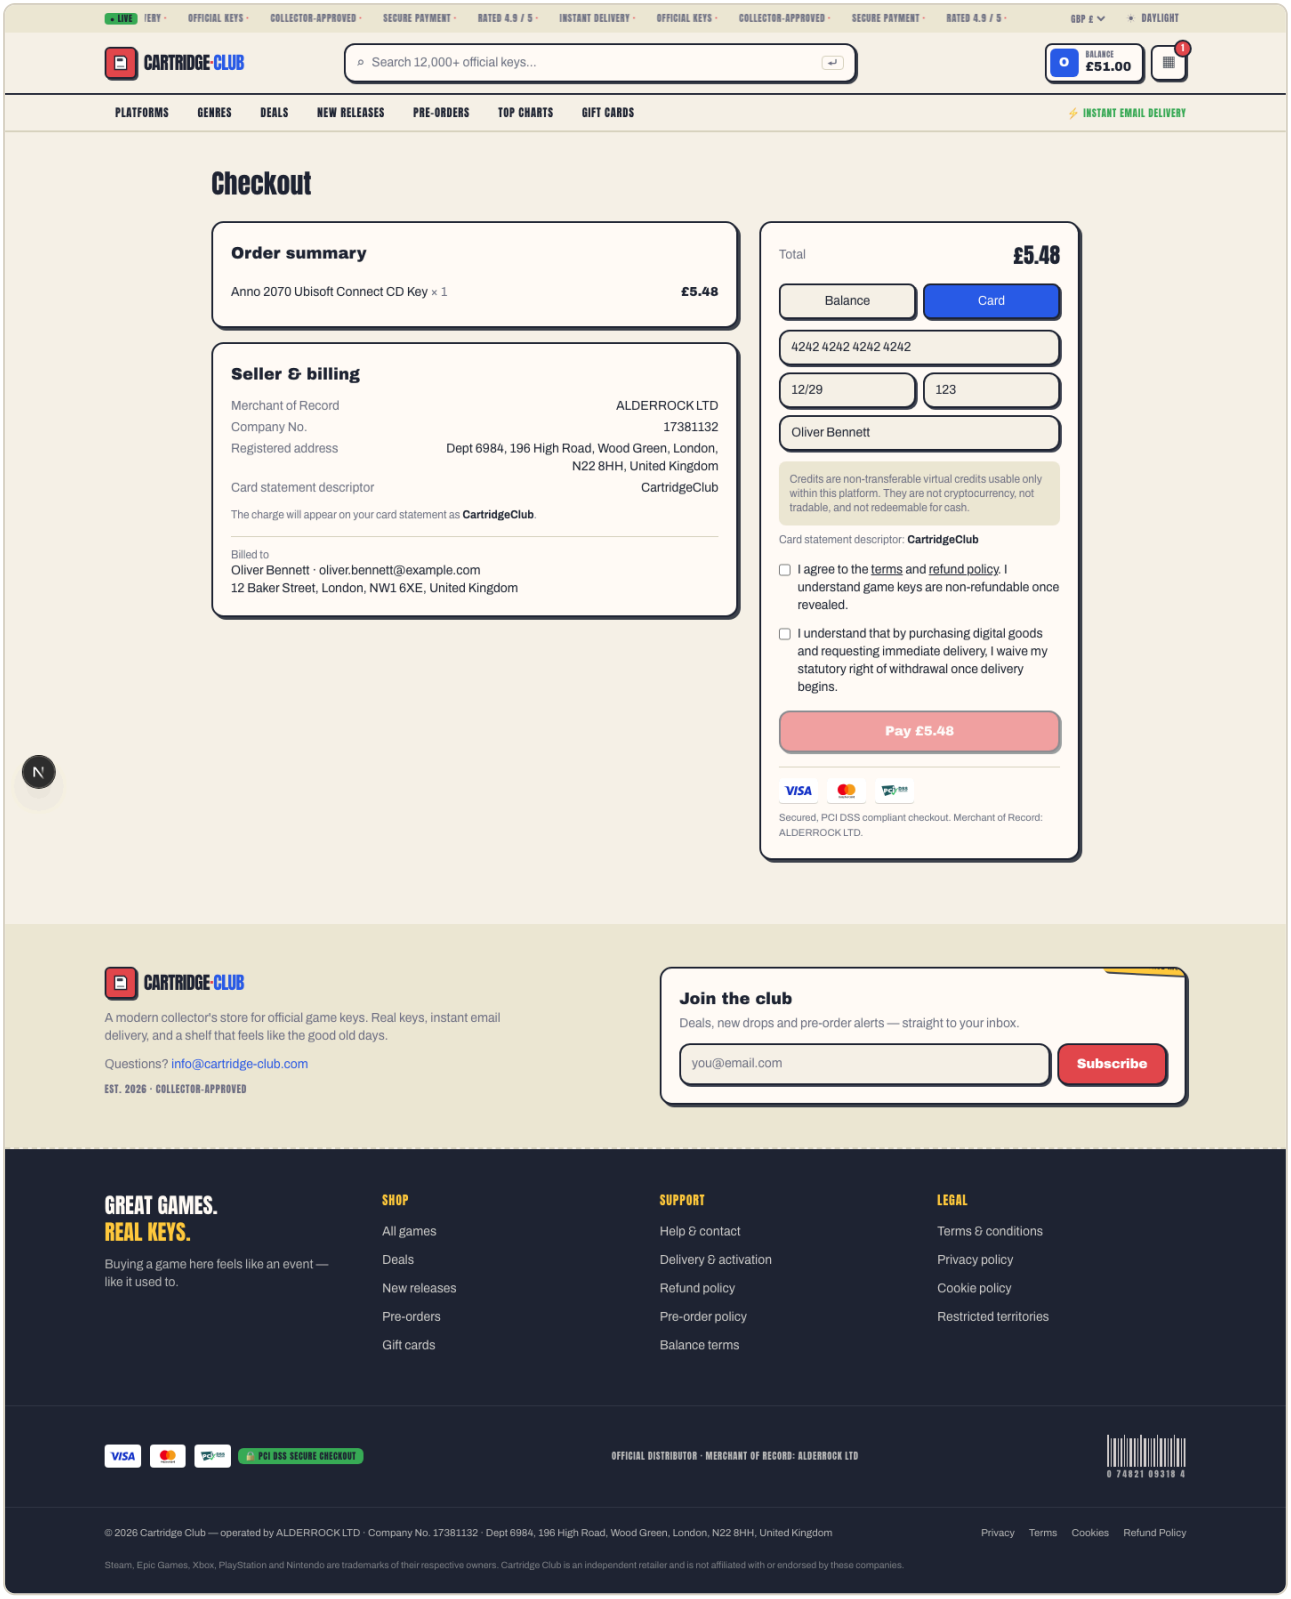

Card statement descriptor

`Card statement descriptor: CartridgeClub` is shown in the payment panel and repeated in the Seller & billing block (“The charge will appear on your card statement as CartridgeClub”). It is also stated in the Terms, Payment section, and on the Balance top-up screen.

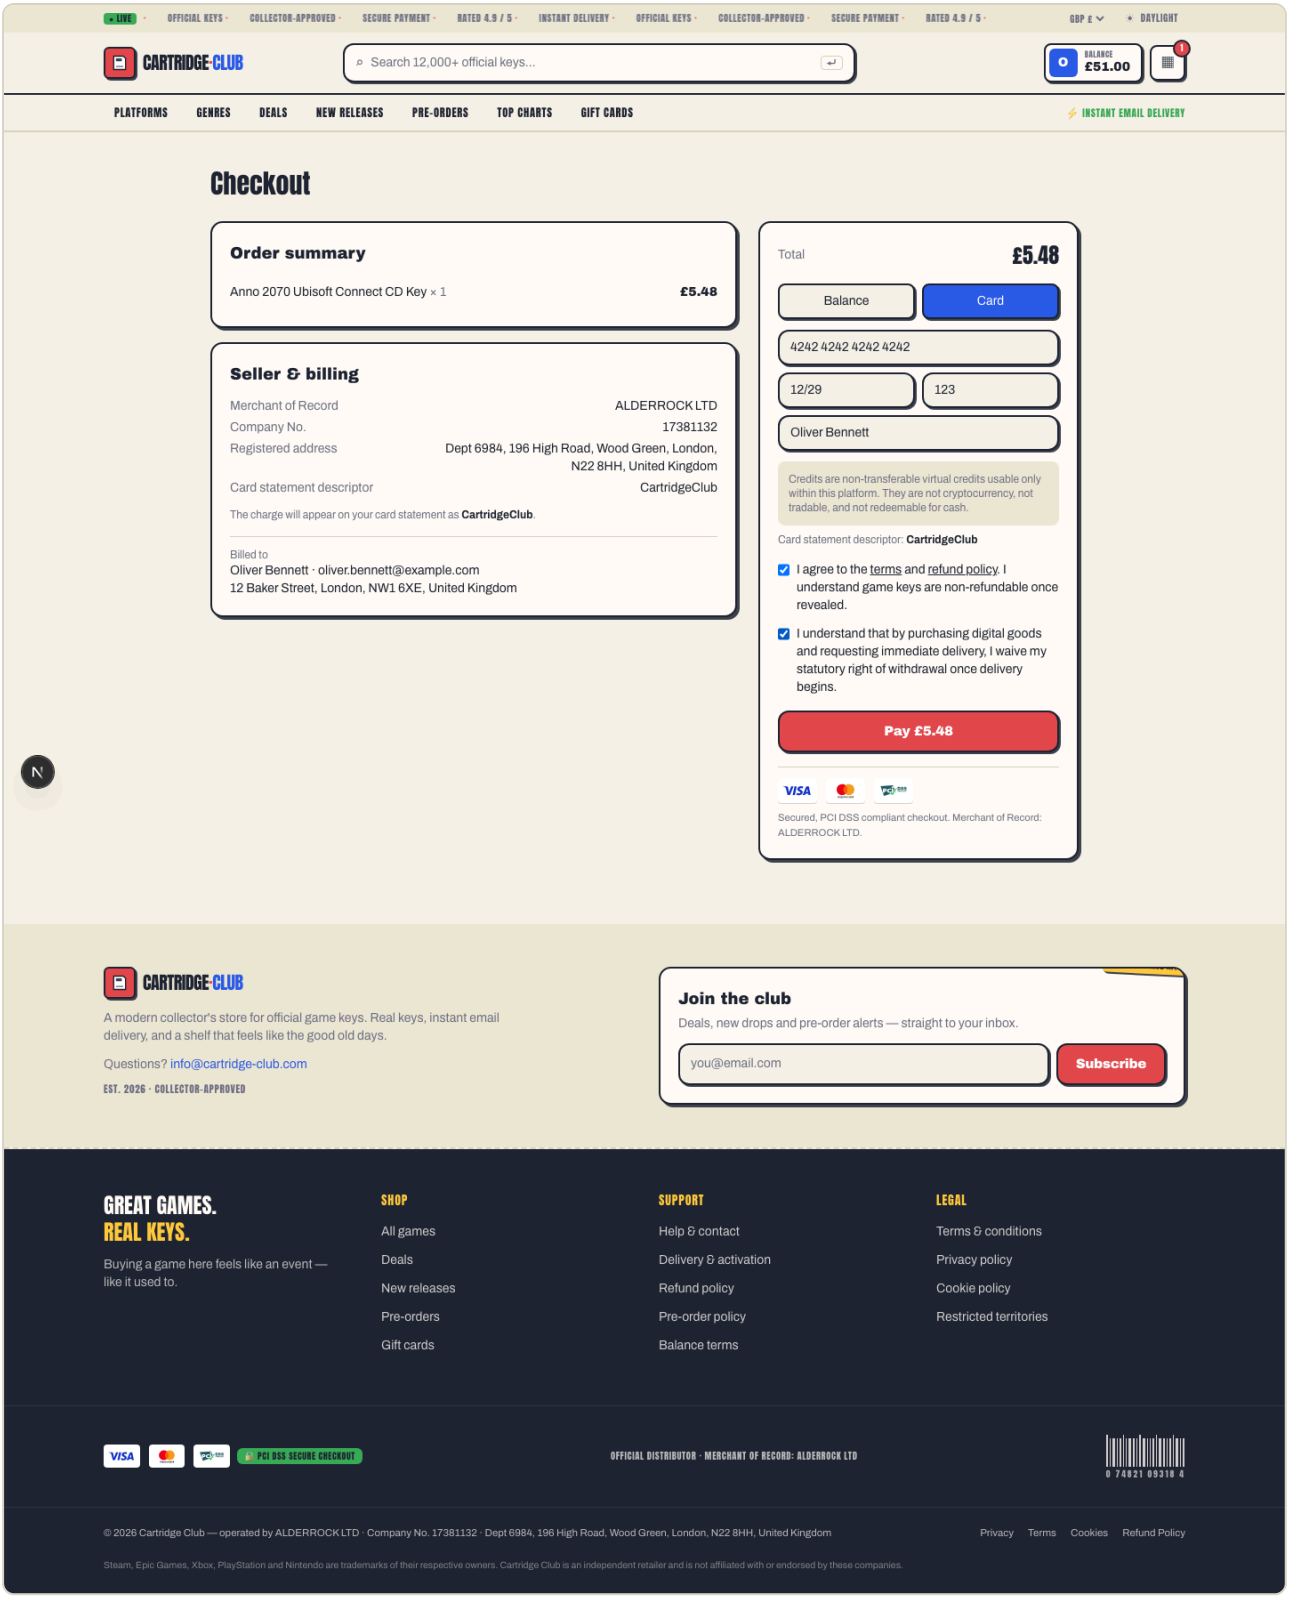

Statutory withdrawal waiver

A mandatory checkbox, unticked by default, must be accepted before payment can be submitted. It is shown to every customer, not only to EU/UK customers, and it is enforced both in the form and on the server — a request without the acknowledgement is rejected. The same acknowledgement is required for a Balance top-up.

> I understand that by purchasing digital goods and requesting immediate delivery, I waive my statutory right of withdrawal once delivery begins.

Checkout as first presented: statement descriptor, credits disclosure, and both consent boxes unticked. The Pay button is disabled.

After the customer ticks the terms acceptance and the withdrawal waiver, payment becomes available.

4. Refund Policy

The Refund, Cancellation and Withdrawal Policy has been reviewed against each item requested and contains:

- Refund conditions and exclusions — invalid, already redeemed, revoked or misdescribed keys; non-delivery; pre-orders; third-party gift card codes; customer selection errors; and the delivered-key rule.
- Technical failures — payment captured without a key issued, duplicate charge, or a delivery system error: redelivery or a full refund at the customer's choice; confirmed duplicate charges are refunded to the original payment method without deduction.
- Response times — requests acknowledged within 2 business days, substantive decision within 14 days of receiving the information needed to investigate.
- Submission window — refund and dispute requests within 30 days of purchase, longer where mandatory consumer law provides.
- Chargeback procedure — contact support first, no duplicate recovery for the same transaction, handling of abusive chargebacks, without limiting the right to dispute an unauthorised transaction.
- Billing contact — info@cartridge-club.com, linked in the technical-failure, cancellation, chargeback and dispute sections.
- No contradictions on Balance — credits are non-withdrawable; reimbursement, where legally required, is made to the original payment method only.

5. Purchase example

The screenshots below follow one order from the catalogue to the delivered key, then show the same order in the back office, and finally the Order Confirmation email and the PDF invoice the customer receives. The card number shown is the standard test number 4242 4242 4242 4242.
